

It's a one for the money...

Apr 15 2004

A suitcase full of cash, a thwarted seduction, an eccentric aunt and a love of Elvis combine to create chaos in the latest production from Shinfield Players.

Laugh? I Nearly Went to Miami follows the fortunes of Elvis fanatic Tom Weals and his fiancée, Alice, whose attempts to fly to a Presley convention in Florida are thwarted - but not before they've managed to inadvertently pick up a suitcase containing half a million dollars.

Arriving back home, they stumble upon Tom's brother, Barney, who had been hoping to use the flat to seduce Muriel. And when Alice's eccentric aunt arrives with a bag containing $20,000, things start to get really complicated....

Miles Tredinnick's fast-paced comedy of confusion is at Shinfield Players' Theatre, Shinfield Road from Wednesday (April 21) until Saturday (24) at 7.45pm. Tickets are £6. Contact: 0118 926 7135.
