

All the ingredients for the wedding from hell

Nov 10 2005

It sounds like the wedding from hell: the groom, Gareth, has a post-stag night hangover so bad he can barely speak, the bride, Shirley, is three months pregnant, and Grandad keeps getting stuck in the outside loo.

But it doesn't end there as the newlywed's relationship comes under strain when it appears that Shirley has been getting it on with Gareth's cocky brother Kenneth.

It all finally comes to a head on the night the baby is born and Kenneth overhears something which will shatter his life.

A Night on the Tiles, the latest production by the Shinfield Players, is a perceptive, entertaining and highly comical play by Frank Vickery, and a realistic look at the difficulties of family life.

A Night on the Tiles comes to Shinfield Players Theatre on Whitley Wood Lane from Wednesday, November 16 until Saturday, November 19. Tickets £7.
